GATHERED BY OUR ALERT CORRESPONDENTS.

The Events of the Week From Twenty Years Ago in Summit County—What "The Times" Representatives Have Found to Write About.

HARLEY.

Oakley, Utah, July 1, 1897.

Enron Times.

Fishing is very good, but the water is rather deep.

Attorney Lockhart was attending court here last week.

Miss Clara Stevens has returned from a long stay in Salt Lake.

E. Horton had a break out on the side near the back that came near bleeding to death.

W. H. Stevens returned from his sheep camp the other day looking as robust as ever.

Miss Anna Rasmussen has been very sick with feverish trouble. She is now better at present.

G. G. Stevens returned last Saturday from the Hot Springs, where he has been for rheumatism treatment.

W. H. Stevens has his mill full of flour. He is preparing to take a vacation near the time of the Jubilee.

County Attorney Shields was in town this week shaking hands with old friends. He also attended Justice's court.

A case was tried before P. Phillips, the justice of the peace, wherein H. B. Maxwell and others in behalf of the State were plaintiffs and Lewis Smith Jr., the defendant, for drawing sheep tags. The case was decided in favor of the defendant.

W. W. Horton's second boy was kicked and run over by a vicious horse belonging to T. W. Frazier, the other day. There should be some way to prevent such animals from running at large on the streets, as this is not the first time he has run after children. This makes the third boy he has kicked within two years.

James Evans had the misfortune to get a fall the other day, but he is not badly hurt. He was driving a new pair of his horses while out fishing with Dr. Vianik. The horse he was a splash, then he saw something black sticking up in the water, and he was struck and he knew something had happened to his companion. He hurried down to where James was in time to see him crawl out. I suppose he thought of something.

J. M. Sweet and Mr. Ellis could do their sheep camp yesterday. They say the sheep look fine and feed is very good.

FEEL.

Poncha, Utah, July 1, 1897.

Enron Times.

Grasshopper is a month behind.

Cow worms are still doing some damage.

Shooting of game in the street should be prohibited.

H. B. Wright, wife and Mrs. Elizabeth Marchant went to Park City on Tuesday. "Two of Poncha's most influential citizens" were in Park City last Saturday.

Mail service has been all right this past week, thanks to the powers that be.

A daughter of Mrs. Elizabeth Wright is quite sick and has been for the past few days.

We are having more thunder and lightning than rain; the latter would be of greater benefit.

It is expected that the wire on the telephone poles will be strung as far as Poncha this (Wednesday) evening.

For the past two days the weather has been quite warm, the nights cool and is what may be called hot growing weather.

G. N. Beckstead and wife went to Coalville today for the purpose of visiting the stores and making purchases.

Stephen M. Walker is expected to arrive here this week from the Salmon Islands, where he has been laboring for the past three years and some months.

Mrs. Maria L. Miles had a quilting bee the hind end of last week. Among those seen there were Mrs. Hulda Miles, Miss 104 Miles, Miss Nettie Wilkins, Miss Eva Marchant, Mrs. M. L. Lyons and Mrs. Emma Ross; your correspondent came in for a share of the good things is now running and is fully equipped to make a large amount of first-class butter. During the summer a cheese department will be established. In order to run both departments we find that we shall need more milk than can be produced in the vicinity of the Creamery. We would therefore ask that you arrange to produce at least ten times as much milk as you are now producing. There are many acres of waste land near the Creamery that will grow the finest milk producing grasses in the world. Much of this land is for sale or rent. We pay the highest cash price for butter (A), or its equivalent in butter, of any firm in Summit County.

provided for the guests, and when it comes to eating he is there with both feet and is seldom left out in the cold.

George N. Beckstead returned home from Wyoming on Sunday evening after an absence of several weeks.

W. H. French, with his powerful voice, will soon be able to "read off" over the line for our dances. Eh?

Arthur Maxwell, Mrs. W. A. Maxwell, Mrs. Elizabeth Maxwell, Mrs. J. A. Marchant and Mrs. H. J. Marchant who have been in Salt Lake City for a week returned home on Saturday.

The base ball game at Park City on July 5th between the Park City club and the Ogden club promises to be of much interest and our local clubs would do well to witness it, they may get some pointers and should not miss it.

H. B. Williams, who has been in Salt Lake City for several weeks past waiting on his son, Hollis, who underwent an operation, returned home on Monday evening bringing his son with him.

A. A. Marchant has gone up to his ranch at Holiday Park to make preparations for the excursionists from Salt Lake City who will arrive there during the next few days. Holiday Park is one of the most pleasant resorts in the mountains.

The glorious Fourth, from all appearances, will be celebrated here in a more pleasant manner. It seems that very little interest has been taken, and those who would favor a celebration have met with discouragement; previously the attractions at Park City taking the attention of many for that day.

What promised to be a heavy storm on Sunday evening turned out to be one of the most severe electrical storms ever known here. The thunder was almost deafening and continuous while the lightning was vivid and dangerous. Very little rain fell after all the noise and fire.

The question now is: "Where will my telephone office be located here?" I understand that there are several who would be more than pleased to have it. Put it in the best and most convenient place, wherever that may be. It is not a very great place to handle after, although it will be of great benefit to all.

The good people of Poncha have erected their new series of telephone poles without any help from other places, and we are proud of the fact; and to the untiring energy of Bishop Walker on the greater praise be given for the interest he has taken to see that our progress were made good.

Drummers, agents and the like have been quite numerous of late, anxious to get orders but meet with little success. As very few ever come of them is a good thing, they are cited to the hard times which are made possible by their action, with that of others. Gold is a good thing and I wish we all had a bucket of it and sixteen bushels of silver. The two would make it about right.

Arthur Maxwell lost a valuable mare by death on Monday evening. The animal was apparently well and hearty when he dropped to the ground and died very suddenly; the cause of its death is unknown. She left a young colt to nurse for itself. C. W. Seymour, of Oakley, I am informed, lost a mare the same way, only a few days ago and now the people are wondering what the cause was.

On Wednesday of this week a number of our citizens contributed means and others gave their services and erected a nice substantial picket fence in front of the residence of Ellen Wright, a respected and worthy widow of our town. When it comes to doing an act of kindness our citizens are always found to front. To say that Mrs. Wright was pleased to be remembered in such a kindly manner would not convey enough of the joy and thanks the lady manifested.

Since writing, as above, that Poncha would not celebrate, a few of our citizens got together and arranged a program to be carried out on the Fifth. There will be a base ball game between

Hundreds of thousands have been induced to try Chamberlain's Cough Remedy by reading what he does for others, and having tested its merits for themselves are today its warmest friends. For sale by John Boyden & Son.

W. B. Johnson, Newark, O., says: "One Minute Cough Cure saved my only child from being by-cropt." It has saved thousands of others from serious throat and lung troubles. John Boyden & Son.

ROCKPORT.

Rockport, Utah, July 1, 1897.

Enron Times.

Miss Ellen Board is in Rockport.

The telephone men put up the wire through here yesterday.

The days are warm but we have a white frost over night. Grass and golden roes seem to be growing nicely.

David Hill, a sheepman, was taken very sick here on Monday last while on the road to his sheep camp, and was obliged to return to his home in Salt Lake county.

E. B. Crockett started for Salt Lake this morning with fifty sacks of wool from the company's mine in Weber county, with which they intend to make a test of their mine.

WASHSHIP.

Wasatch, Utah, July 1, 1897.

Enron Times.

The hotel wagon will be completed this week.

Mrs. J. T. Myers has a class of children under training for the exercises on the Fourth.

There will be a show in the Fourth of July parade with thirteen young ladies representing the thirteen original states and the "Goddess of Liberty." At the close of the exercises there will be a grand ball given in the Young Hall.

A fire occurred here on the 30th. Benj. Williams' barn was burned down. He lost a pair of horses and a set of harness. Two small boys with matches were the cause of the conflagration. The alarm was not given in time to save any thing.

HENKERS.

Henker, Utah, July 1, 1897.

Enron Times.

George T. Duld addressed the people here on Sunday last.

The County Commissioners were here on Tuesday.

James Salmon and wife of Coalville were visiting here during this week.

Mrs. Clara Young and Mrs. Emily Young of Crockett were visiting with relatives here on Sunday last.

At all-day services here returned home and report cheering for this year compared with previous years.

Mr. and Mrs. George Wilde of Coalville have been visiting relatives and friends here during the week.

Many of the people of Henker will be deprived of seeing the Pioneer Jubilee on account of the price of the railroad fare. Others will take the old fashioned way of going, by team. All agree that a much cheaper rate should have been given for the occasion, and the railroads would have made more than they will now.

Charles Brower, who died here on the 2nd, was born at Folsom, Nev. Eng. land, on March 13th, 1822. At the age of 14 he commenced a seafaring life which lasted for over twenty years, during which time he succeeded in every position known to a seaman and held good certificates of proficiency and worthy conduct during his entire life. He was a member of the British Naval Reserve, and entitled to a pension, and he remained in England. He arrived in laying the cable in the Persian Gulf, and was one of the few who returned from the trying search for the body of Sir John Franklin in the Polar Regions. He came to this country in 1896, and will be remembered by the early prospectors of Tishie, where he had several claims there in early days; he was also a good cook, and was engaged at cooking for the men in Sharp's cabin when the railroad went through. He had no enemies here, and was a great favorite with the little ones. The relatives of the deceased wish to thank all who kindly assisted him during his last illness and at the funeral.

WATATCH.

Wasatch, Utah, July 1, 1897.

Enron Times.

Mrs. May leaves on a trip to Creston, Wyoming, on Friday.

Will Salmon made a trip to the county seat on the last of the week.

Walshall and McMichael made a sack of wool on Tuesday at 11 cents good.

William Moss of the Big Sheep company was doing business here on Sunday.

Several wool buyers have been here during the week looking for wool purchases. Very little wool is available.

Those woolmen who sold their wool early are out of luck, for wool took a jump in price and those who had not yet sold their wool are jubilant in consequence.

Notices are out for a school trustees' election to be held on the 12th of July, at which three trustees are to be elect. One for a term of one year, one for two and one for three years. All voters should be there.

A few miles from here a camp composed of five miles of Evanston's victims are hard at work driving down on a prospect claim. They found some good rock which has encouraged them to further develop the property.

A number of our residents, and also a goodly number of men who do business here during the busy season of the year are anxious to have a postoffice established here, for the better convenience of the mail, and are taking steps to accomplish the same.

Mrs. F. E. Baker of the Coalville New West School arrived here on Saturday and on Monday started a summer school at the home of Mrs. J. S. Ball, for the benefit of the latter's children, who are fortunate in securing the services of Miss Baker, who appears to be an efficient teacher, and is well equipped with splendid charts and maps for the business.

Letter From "Coe"

Henker, Utah, July 30, 1897.

Enron Times.

Having returned last evening from the other valleys, I will give you a few items.

The last State Legislature appropriated to Morgan Co. the sum of $1,200 for road improvements. Daniel Hiler is the taxpayer's agent to experiment the expediency of the task. The new road around Strawberry Hill, in the lower Water Canyon is completed from Mountain Green to where it should cross the railroad track. Their proposition to build a road on the north side of the track fourteen feet from their roadbed having been rejected, they now propose to build it twenty feet, if the company is willing. The job so far is well done. The Hot Springs Railroad is doing a big business carrying pleasure parties to Farmington. When the road is completed to Coalville, as at one time contemplated, it will be a continuous haul for this end of Summit county.

On Sunday afternoon the hall of the Salt Lake Tabernacle was well filled. The building is not large enough now, for annual conferences. The choir was out in force. Elder Jensen occupied the time of the morning relating his travels all around the world in the interest of church history.

The foundation for the Brigham Young monument is now complete and ready for the granite pedestal. It will not be put up so high as at one time intended as it is deemed best to have it low enough to enable his features to be recognized.

Theodore Curtis is here and Henry at 82.

Your correspondent was entertained at the home of John D. Chase in Center valley, an old time friend who is now 82, and looks much younger.

The Hot Pots.

Henker, July 1, 1897.

Enron Times.

Utah abounds with many curiosities and wonders of nature, and not the least by any means is the Hot Pots of Midway, bordering our county on the south. Through the courtesy of Mr. Noah Mayo, your Hot Pot correspondent was driven over there last Sunday. The first of these wonderful breaks of nature that we come to, half a mile north of Midway, is owned by Mr. Lybe, who has made a pleasure resort of them by building both houses, swings, a pavilion, etc., and runs a free stage on Sunday. There are several of these pots here that look like an inverted bowl fifteen to twenty feet high, with a hole in the top twenty feet across, nearly full of bubbling hot water, the limestone crust surrounding them, rising to a thin edge and underfoot. Substances of any kind thrown in will petrify and form into a hard stone. Others of this form are new dry, the bottom being sealed over with the lime formation. One of these is used for a pig-pen by Mr. Lybe and another for a billiard hall, the top having been roofed over.

The largest pot is about a mile further up, owned by a Mr. Snyder who has built a fine hotel for tourists and bathers. This pot is located on a broad flat and is fifty or more feet high. We were informed that the bottom in this has never been sounded.

They are now driving in a tunnel at its base to its center to tap it, although a steady stream runs from the top. The lime produced from these pots is the best in the country.

It is a terrible accident to be burned or scalded; but the pain and agony and the frightful disfigurements can be quickly overcome without having a scar by using Dr. Williams' Witch Hazel Salve. John Boyden & Son.

Another Drilled.

The stockholders of the great Ogden mine on Wednesday protested a dividend in the sum of $15,000, and the total paid to date will have been increased to $13,445,000, a figure attained by no other mine on record. Notwithstanding this vast amount of ore that has been hoisted from its depths, there remain vast bodies in sight, and were the market favorable to it, the tonnage might be made as large today as at any other time in its career. At it is, the company is observing a very conservative policy and putting out only such ore as is necessary to keep the stockholders in broad money and meet the requirements of the pay-roll.

The Geyer-Maryon stockholders will also take down a dividend today in the sum of $6,000, making a total of $27,000 that has been paid since the consolidation was effected.—Tribune, 20th.
